LUCA TASCHINI

Dr Luca Taschini is a Research Fellow at the Grantham Research Institute and the London School of Economics and Political Science. Luca is an economist, working at the intersection of environmental economics, energy markets, and industrial organisation. His current research investigates how market-based environmental regulation and emissions trading schemes in particular are working in theory and in practice. More specifically, he is studying the functioning of price containment mechanisms, participation restrictions, the linkage of markets and the investigation of policy controls able to promote technology adoption. Luca is leading the FP7 Entracte project on the EU ETS reform. Luca has a PhD in Economics from the University of Zurich. Previously, he held a post-doc position at the Joint Program on the Science and Policy of Global Change (MIT) and the London School of Economics and Political Science.
