Enrique Tellado

Enrique Tellado Nogueira holds a degree in Economic Sciences and Business from C.E.U. San Pablo – Complutense of Madrid. He also attended the École Supérieure du Commerce Extérieur of Paris and the London School of Economics. He has held senior positions since 1998 in the strategic consulting firm McKinsey & Company and The Boston Consulting Group. He joined the banking sector in 2007 where he held various senior positions in the areas of Strategy and Finance. In 2012, as Chief Financial Officer, he worked on the privatization of NCG Bank as part of the bank restructuring process of the Spanish financial system. In February 2014, Enrique joined EVO Banco as CEO. From his position he has promoted the change of business model towards a completely digital bank and has positioned EVO at the forefront of the new banking system, with the launching of EVO Assitant, the world's first voice assistant in the banking sector.

Currently, and after the acquisition of EVO Banco by Bankinter group, he serves as General Manager.
